Report

Topic: A Seminar on “Collaborative Approach between research and startup” on 01/11/2021

A Seminar conducted to train students on “Collaborative Approach between research and startup” on 08/03/2022

Expert has Guided Students about, Collaborative research which is the key to developing solutions that can have a significant impact on society. Collaborative research is a partnership between two or more parties who work together to achieve common goals. In the context of market research, it is a way for researchers from different backgrounds, such as industry and academia, to bridge the gap between the theoretical and the practical.

Also, Collaborative research can be either homogeneous or heterogeneous. Homogeneous research involves individuals or groups that share similar backgrounds or perspectives, while heterogeneous research involves individuals or groups with diverse backgrounds and perspectives.
